Today's blog comes in the form of a poem, courtesy of supervisor Katie!

Volleyball

Sports and classes,
learning and volleys,
filled Reach Cambridge,
Students wearing their sunnies.

But the shades came off,
and we didn't keep still.
Teaching architects, Young Leaders
or application skills.

Personal Statement Workshop

And on the eve,
our corridors feasted,
on burritos and tacos,
pasta and pizza.

But where shall we reach?
The students all cried,
'Why up to the skies!'
Our flying lecturer replied.

But the day was not done,
until all had had fun,
bidding their portion,
at the charity auction.

Charity Auction in action

And there we leave;
another day ends.
But fear not reach students,
for more days are round the bend!

~by Katie (third year Veterinary Medicine student at Pembroke College, Cambridge)