Reach has been busy travelling over the last month. It's been great to meet new students and hear how excited everyone is about this summer in Cambridge. We cannot wait! It has also been wonderful to see past students once more.

Our Reach staff meeting past students in Lebanon this January

In addition to this, I want to say a very heartfelt thank you for everyone's warm hospitality and welcome. It's been such a great experience visiting new countries and learning all about their unique history and culture – things that we hope all of our students will learn when they come to Reach Cambridge and meet other international students.

In celebration of this, the next few blog entries will be about our travels and show you a brief snapshot of what we did and where we went.

Stay tuned and enjoy!
