

One of the unique aspects of Reach Cambridge is our stunning location. Situated in the historic city of Cambridge, students have the opportunity to immerse themselves in an environment rich with architectural splendour, academic heritage, and cultural significance. Walking the same paths as some of history's greatest minds, our students find inspiration in every corner.

The inspiring surroundings at Reach Cambridge offers more than just visual beauty; it fosters a sense of community and learning. The serene college gardens, the picturesque River Cam, and the historic buildings provide a backdrop that encourages students to think deeply and explore their passions.

Ali, a former student from Jordan, shares his enriching experience:

"My time at Reach Cambridge was transformative. The city's historic atmosphere combined with the modern academic facilities created a perfect learning environment. Strolling through the college gardens, punting on the River Cam, and engaging in discussions under the arches of ancient halls were experiences that deeply enriched my academic journey. The connections I made and the knowledge I gained here have been invaluable."

Inspirational Surroundings at Reach Cambridge

Cambridge is not just a city of academia; it is a hub of cultural activity. From local markets to international food stalls, and from historic bookshops to contemporary art galleries, the city offers a wealth of experiences that broaden students' horizons. Emma reflects on how her cultural adventures enhanced her stay, and made Reach Cambridge the experience of a lifetime:

"Cambridge was a cultural feast! Every weekend, I discovered something new – a quaint bookshop, an art exhibition, or a lively market. The variety of cultural experiences available made my stay at Reach Cambridge vibrant and exciting. It wasn't just about studying; it was about living and learning in a city that has so much to offer."

Over the past 20 years, the beauty and history of Cambridge have been a constant source of inspiration and wonder for our students, enriching their educational experience in countless ways. The environment encourages them to pursue their passions with renewed vigour, whether it be in the arts, sciences, or humanities.

Sophie, from Australia, describes how the city inspired her career choice:

"Living in Cambridge was like living in a storybook. Every corner of the city inspired me. The majestic architecture, the academic environment, and the artistic vibe of the city all played a part in my decision to pursue a career in history and archaeology. Reach Cambridge provided not just an education, but a lifetime of memories and inspiration."
