Money:

The majority of your expenses are covered by the program fee. Thus, your expenses will be limited to the additional meals as outlined in our program information (usually lunch and occasional dinners), souvenirs and peripheral costs in your free time. An amount of ~£200 per week is a good guide. Many shops, cafes and restaurants only accept contactless payment so we recommend looking into contactless card or phone options as an alternative to cash. There may also be some optional activities that will be organized as the program progresses. It is worth bringing additional funds available (up to £100 per 2-week course) to cover any extra events. Please note that Reach Cambridge cannot be held responsible for the loss or theft of any money brought with you.

Valuables:

We would dissuade you from bringing expensive items with you such as non-essential tech and jewellery, unless they are absolutely necessary. Your cell phone/mobile must be kept turned off at all times during the academic lessons and lectures. If you bring your laptop, we suggest you have it insured against theft, loss and damage. Reach Cambridge cannot be held responsible for the theft, loss or damage to personal property.
